Using the OpenCms integrated editors

The OpenCms Workplace offers a variety of editors. The most common editors are for editing in a WYSIWYG mode, and for editing source code of JSP, Html or Plain Text pages. The OpenCms Workplace will automatically detect the browser you use, which editors are available, and give you the best editor known to work with your browser.

In case no WYSIWYG editor is available for your browser, you will be presented a simple text editor only.

Please note that additional editors can be added as separate OpenCms modules. If you do not have a suitable editor for your browser, check the module download section of <http://www.opencms.org>

Welcome to OpenCms

Congratulations!

You have setup OpenCms successfully.

Your installed OpenCms version is: 7.5.4

Running on Sun Microsystems Inc. OpenJDK 64-Bit Server VM 19.0-b09 mixed mode with Linux 2.6.34.8-0.2-default (amd64)

As you may have guessed by now, this is the default OpenCms home page. It can not be found on the local file system ;-) but in the OpenCms system or VFS, which is served from the connected database. You can access the VFS through the OpenCms workplace.

To login to the OpenCms workplace, point your browser to the following URL:
</opencms/opencms/system/login/>

Use the following account information for your first login:

Username: `Admin`

Password: `admin`

Important: You should change this default password immediately, before someone else does it for you.

If you're seeing this page, and you don't think you should be, then either you're a user who has arrived at a new installation of OpenCms or an administrator who hasn't got his/her setup quite right. Providing the latter is the case, please refer to the OpenCms Documentation available at <http://www.opencms.org> for more detailed setup and administration information.

In case you have questions about OpenCms, please use the opencms-dev mailing list. This is currently the list for all questions regarding configuration and development. Check the mailing list page to learn how to subscribe to this list.

Have fun exploring OpenCms!
